A season for stories, traditions, and shared memories

Fun Facts

- November in northern Wisconsin brings frosty mornings, quiet forests, and the first signs of winter.

- What was your favorite Thanksgiving dish, family recipe, or holiday tradition?
- Do you remember going to deer camp, attending a Veterans Day program, or joining a community supper?
- What did you enjoy doing on frosty November evenings?
- Do you remember the first snowfall that made winter feel truly underway?

NOVEMBER FUNNIES

A little laughter for the season!

The Great November Turkey Negotiation

On the first day of November, Harold, the turkey, called an emergency meeting in Farmer Bob's barn.

"Friends," Harold announced, "We need a plan. Thanksgiving is only three weeks away."

The cows nodded nervously. The pigs looked concerned. The chickens pretended not to know Harold.

"I've decided to negotiate," Harold said confidently.

The next morning, Harold marched up to Farmer Bob and presented a handwritten contract:

Turkey Protection Agreement

1. Turkey receives unlimited corn.
2. Turkey receives heated housing.
3. Turkey remains uneaten.

Farmer Bob read it, scratched his head, and said, "Interesting."

For the next three weeks, Harold relaxed. He walked around proudly telling everyone, "I've handled it."

Then Thanksgiving arrived.

Harold discovered that Farmer Bob had signed the contract.

Unfortunately, it was on the back of the menu.

November lesson: Always read the fine print... especially if you're a turkey.
